As the warm, lazy days of summer wind down into September, you can see, feel and smell the seasonal change in the air and know that autumn is close at hand. The days get shorter, the nights are cooler, and the wonderful scents of apples and wood smoke fill the air.

Nature begins to paint her landscapes a spectacular canvas of rich gold, deep purple, vibrant orange and red, and the softly fading green of Indian summer.

Our Shades of Autumn section captures this colorful palette in a variety of creative, fun-to-make projects that include a scarf, two afghans, a doily and a shopping tote. Fall colors also highlight the projects in our Giving Thanks section that includes a pumpkin centerpiece, autumn-leaf place mat, and cute turkey napkin ring and crayon holder designs.

Other patterns in the issue include a cute baby capelet, a versatile child's hooded vest, scarves for you and your favorite guy, a chic cape, an impressive U.S. Army Tartan Throw, and the final installment of the adorable At the Zoo set of stackable ring animals.

I hope you enjoy the bounty of fabulous projects we have for you in this issue, and also take time to revel in the incomparable beauty of nature's glorious panorama. Like crochet, it's a unique experience to be treasured and appreciated.

Happy stitching,

Meet the Winner

Anita Wilburn Darras

When I was 5, my mother taught me to crochet. I would spend hours sitting on my little cricket stool turning out chain necklaces while Momma crocheted dozens of afghans, sweaters, hats and so much more. My mother was a true artist of all kinds of needlework; embroidery, smocking, tatting, dressmaking, knitting, quilting—she could do it all. She even braided all the rugs in our house! In 2014, my sisters and I launched the Marian G. Wilburn Foundation (www.marianwilburnfoundation.org) in her memory. The foundation is dedicated to education in all the fiber/needle arts. We raise money for scholarships in fiber-arts education and help to underwrite the Crochet Guild of America's Young Designer Prize. We also seek to honor needle artists of the past by restoring and preserving their handiwork.

The U.S. Army Tartan Throw is my first published design. A lot of the credit for its creation goes to my husband, Norman. You see, I love plaid. And even more than I love plaid, I love the way a man looks in a plaid kilt. After much nudging, my husband finally agreed to wear a kilt, but only if I could find a tartan to which he was "entitled." He did not want to wear a clan kilt nor a regional kilt since he is not Scottish. At last I came across a U.S. Army tartan kilt. As a Korean War draftee, my husband said he would be proud to wear the Army's colors. To commemorate the occasion of his first "wearin' o' the kilt," I created this afghan.

Did you know that the United States Army has its own official tartan pattern? This striking lap throw replicates this design and would make a wonderful gift for an Army veteran.

I love YARN DAY!™
October 17, 2015

Hundreds of thousands of fiber lovers will be plying their needles, hooks and spindles on October 17 in celebration of I Love Yarn Day. What started as a lark five years ago by a group of yarn enthusiasts inviting people to share their fiber passion has turned into a viral event that trended on social media last year.

I Love Yarn Day is all about spreading that good feeling people have about yarn and yarn-related crafts. Knit it, crochet it, spin it, weave it, wear it, post it, tweet it, carry it, share it or give it! Last year people shared their love of yarn by teaching others, stitching for charity or getting together to crochet with friends.

Visit www.iloveyarn.org for ideas and free patterns to help you celebrate. Yarn crafters are encouraged to plan fun events locally like yarn bombings or yarn parties, and to pin their recipes, decorations and planned projects on the I Love Yarn Day Pinterest board. Enthusiasts are also invited to post their plans at: www.craftyarncouncil.com/i-love-yarn-day-plans, and post and tweet them on the I Love Yarn Day Facebook and Twitter pages. Let's all get involved and show our yarn pride!

The Yarnit

PRODUCT REVIEW

What's round, holds your yarn on the go and at home, and keeps it both tangle-free and within reach? It's the Yarnit! At first glance, this deceptively simple tool doesn't reveal all its secrets. The glasslike globe, which is made of tough, durable Lexan plastic, easily opens with a twist to store your yarn. Feed your yarn through any of the yarn ports, and it will unwind smoothly as you work. The base grips surfaces firmly, keeping the Yarnit very stable. There is an added benefit of a hidden storage well, which is perfect for keeping stitch markers, needles and small scissors within easy reach. The base also fits into cup holders, keeping your yarn close at hand on car trips. Add the strap and you will find yourself crocheting wherever you go! Visit www.theyarnit.com for more information and to order your own!
